

SHAKE-UP OF DETECTIVES.Sweeping Changes Made in the Bureau at Police
Headquarters.

O'BRIEN IS ACTING CAPTAIN.

McCluskey, Acting Chief, Reduced to the Ranks, with Five
Other Sergeants.

SEVEN ASKED TO BE RETIRED.

Many of Byrnes's Sleuths Replaced by Patrolmen—Mangin Goes to Morrisania Court.

The long promised shake up in the detective bureau occurred this afternoon. Five sergeants and many detectives were reduced to the rank of patrolmen, while others of the lower rank took their places.

Among those to go were Detective-Sergeant, McCluskey, the acting chief of the bureau, and Armstrong, whom many believed would be made a captain.

"Steve" O'Brien was made an acting captain and ordered to report to Chief Conlin.

One of the first things done by the Police Board to-day was to approve of Acting Chief Conlin's desire to get rid of Byrnes's friends.

Sergeant Frank Mangin was sent to take command of the Morrisania Police Court squad, Patrolmen Callahan and Strauss were detailed elsewhere.

Then the Commissioner transferred Sergeant J. J. Farrell from the East Twenty-second street station to the Central Office. He will probably assume the duties which have been performed by Sergeant Mangin.

Deputy Restored and Suspended.

Capt. William S. Devery and his one-time ward man, Glennon, who were reinstated by the courts, were restored to duty. Their standing in the department was of short duration, however, for Chief Conlin issued orders to Acting Chief Conlin instructing him to suspend both officers the moment they reported for duty.

"They are under other indictments which have not yet been tried," said President Roosevelt.

Policeman Henry Hildebrandt, for many years attached to the Election Bureau, was made an acting roundsman.

The Board then went into executive session, it was asked to discuss the Detective Bureau subject.

After the secret session it was announced that Detective-Sergeant, Stephen O'Brien had been made an Acting Captain, and ordered to report to the Acting Chief for duty.

These detective sergeants were reduced to the rank of patrolmen: George A. Dunne, Dennis Grady, Henry Hildebrandt, Edward J. Armstrong, George W. McCluskey, Charles Jacobs, George F. Titus.

The following detective-officers were also reduced to the rank of patrolmen: Arthur A. Carey, Joseph Downing, James Dunn, Dennis Grady, Henry Hildebrandt, Edward J. Armstrong, George W. McCluskey, Charles Jacobs, George F. Titus.

The New Blood.

A resolution was passed making these men already in the bureau detective sergeants:

Morris Bonnell, William J. Clark, John G. Cuff, Charles Formosa, John Holland, John Krauch, Patrick Lawler, John J. O'Brien, William P. Shuman, James W. Trainor, Richard Sullivan, John G. McGinnis, Andrew Nugent, Samuel Price, William Rynders, Martin T. Robinson, Henry Foy, George A. Doran and Robert J. Webb.

The following patrolmen were designated to report to the Acting Chief to be detailed as detective officers:

George E. Nethercott, Leonard street station; Edward Stringer, Union Market station; Joseph Petrosino, of the West Thirtieth street station; John Farley, of the Mercer street station; Emil F. Feacher, of the Union Market station; William Brown, of the West Thirtieth street station; William Daly, of the West Forty-seventh street station; Patrick Haughey, of the West Sixty-eighth street station; William F. Dorrain, of the Morrisania station; George I. Rogers, of the Morrisania station; Andrew Welter, of the East Thirty-fifth street station; Joseph O'Donohue, of the East One Hundred and Fourth street station; Frank E. Price, of the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station; Dennis McCarthy, of the Grand Central station; Philip Weller, of the Delancey street station; Jeremiah O'Donnell, of the Elizabeth street station.

These Not Molested.

The following Detective-Sergeants, who served under Byrnes, were not disturbed: Thomas F. Adams, John J. Dunn, Frank Evanchoe, John Killian, Thomas J. McCarthy, Robert McNaught, John Mitholland, Michael J. Neep, Antonio Perrazo, Phil Reilly, James F. Vailley, Charles J. Wade, John McCully and Thomas W. Mulry.

It is expected, however, that the Commissioner will shake up the bureau again within a very short time, and that some of these men will have to go out on patrol.

Detective Charles McManus was sent to the Fire Marshal Board, by request of the Fire Commissioners.

When Chief Conlin received the resolution he at once began to make arrangements for making the details.

There was a panic in the Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters this morning.

The news written in "The Evening World" yesterday that the bureau would be shaken up and nearly all the old-time Byrnes detectives shaken out, early this morning created a stampede for the office of Chief Clerk Kipp, of those who have been sufficiently long enough on the force to obtain retirement on a pension.

A detective-sergeant receives $2,000 a year and if retired is entitled to $1,000 pension, while a patrolman, of which a Detective-sergeant may be reduced, gets only $1,000 per year at the most.

Seven Asked Retirement.

These are the men who were anxious to get in their applications before the old and famous Byrnes Detective Bureau was shattered:

Detective-Sergeant Jacob Von Gerichten, Charles Heideberg, Thomas Hickey, Samuel G. Shelden, Charles A. Hunley, William E. Frink, John Cottrell.

Several of the detectives have had their applications for retirement in since the Lexow Committee met last Summer, but they renewed their this morning in order to cover all legal contingencies which might arise in the future.

Phil Reilly, the veteran detective, who, with Jake Von Gerichten, has been in the Detective-Attorney's office for so many years, declared that he would not get apply for retirement. The Detective Bureau organized the Detective Bureau in 1883, the year when he was appointed to an inspectorship from the command of the Mercer street station, in recognition of the services of the late William Bank Robbers.

The original detective force comprised forty men, but it was increased to seventy by the addition of a number of second-rate detectives who were utilized in performing petty work.

Stephen O'Brien, who is likely to be chief of the new force, is a patrolman No. 26, 178. Soon after Byrnes's command of the Detective Bureau O'Brien was transferred there, and soon became known as one of the best all-around detectives in the force. He was thought well of by Inspector Byrnes.

SAYS SHE IS NOT INSANE.

A Doctor Accused of Getting a Girl Out of the Way.

Judge Stover, in Supreme Court this afternoon, appointed James J. Neale a referee to take testimony on the sanity of Miss Rosa Fisher, twenty-four years old. Up to a week ago she lived with her sister, Mrs. Sarah Trobach, at 183 Orchard street.

She was brought into court this afternoon on a writ of habeas corpus.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

A few days later she was transferred to Ward's Island Asylum for Insane.

Her story is that a physician entered her home a week ago, and said she was wanted by Magistrate Simms, at Essex Market. She was committed to Bellevue Hospital on the complaint of Dr. Morris Gross, of 108 Livingston street.

OFFICER HUSSEY ON TRIAL.

Elias Mandel Tells How He Was Persecuted.Refused to Pay for Protection and
Was Arrested.The trial of Policeman Ambrose W.
Hussey, of the East Twenty-second street station, for tyranny, oppression and perjury, was resumed before Commissioner Grant at Police Headquarters this morning.

Hussey is accused of threatening to shoot Norbert Pfeffer, an assistant counsel at a hearing before the Lexow Committee on Oct. 3, 1894. Pfeffer had gathered evidence against Hussey.

After the first hearing of the trial last Monday Hussey and his lawyer, Mark Alter, fell out, and the latter abandoned the case. Hussey today had Henry J. Goldsmith and Thomas Garrett Fenelon to represent him.

Alfred Huchman and the Essex Market gang, who were captured as at the trial last Monday, were asked to lay whether Pfeffer, who is delayed all day by the speaking-making of the young men on the street side.

Mr. Fenelon, referring to referring to Mr. Moss as a "swindling hypocrite."

Mr. Moss caused an objectionable term to be stricken from the record, and said: "I don't know you. Are you lawyer?"

The younger one replied: "I am, Henry J. Goldsmith, attorney for the Essex Market."

Commissioner Grant ordered the case to proceed.

The next witness was Elias Mandel. Mr. Fenelon objected to his being sworn on a Protestant Bible, but the Commissioner thought it was proper as it contained the Old Testament.

Mandel testified that in 1892 he kept a restaurant at 141 Canal street and Hussey was a frequent visitor.

An adjournment was taken at this point to allow Commissioner Grant to attend a meeting of the Board.

When the trial was resumed Hussey told him if he paid for protection he would not be troubled by any "gang" he wanted, although he had no excuse for it.

He said, demanded that Mandel give him $100, and when he refused Hussey said he was powerful and would punish him if he did not do as he demanded.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

Hussey asked him if he was a Jew. Mandel replied that he was not.

BIG GOLD SHIPMENT.

The Crossmans Will Send $1,000,-
000 To-Morrow.

High Rates of the Bond Syndicate
Causing It.

The Efflux, However, Occasions No
Apprehension.

W. H. Crossman & Bro., coffee importers, will ship between $700,000 and $1,000,000 in gold to Europe to-morrow. The gold was ordered at the Sub-Treasury this morning.

Further amounts may be taken for export next week.

The bond syndicate are holding their bids at such high rates that firms find it cheaper to forward the yellow metal.

The efflux, however, occasions no apprehension, as it is not expected to reach large proportions, and, moreover, the time is rapidly approaching when better supply of bills will be in the market, as a result of increased exports of domestic products.

Nesbitt, Colgate & Co. sent away $50,000 on the Normanna yesterday, and have shipped $100,000 more on the Etruria, which leaves to-morrow.

The following is practically an official statement of the syndicate's position on the question of exchange and gold exports:

"The syndicate is selling bills to all who want them. It is asking no more and taking no less from anybody. It has been approached by several parties, who have practically said that, unless exchange was sold by the syndicate to them at lower rates than $100, they would ship gold."

To these parties, the reply has been that $100 was a fair rate, and that a lower rate could not be made to one and not to all. Any one who did not like the rate and thought better results could be attained by exporting gold, was at liberty to ship gold. The syndicate has not reduced its rate to any one in order to prevent gold from being shipped, and if it reduces to any one it will reduce to all.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—There was a quiet day about $2,000 in the gold reserve to-day.

CHINESE WERE STUBBORN.

Japan Had Hard Work in Joining
Their Forces in Formosa.

YOKOHAMA, July 19.—An official despatch received here from the island of Formosa, says that the Chinese are making a stubborn defense of that territory.

After the capture of Lungtaupao on June 14 an attempt was made to effect a junction between two Japanese battalions at the river Takouan, but the attempt failed, and a squadron of Japanese cavalry which was suddenly attacked by a superior force of Chinese was cut to pieces, only three troopers escaping.

The junction of the two battalions was effected on July 16.

Sir Henry Irving's Testimonial.

LONDON, July 19.—The Lyceum Theatre was crowded to-day with members of the theatrical profession, who presented Sir Henry Irving with a testimonial consisting of their names elegantly bound in an appropriate manner.

Mr. Bancroft made the presentation speech.

Lady Ligar is Dead.

LONDON, July 19.—Lady Ligar, widow of Baron Ligar, who was Governor General of Canada from 1868 to 1872, is dead. She was a daughter of the late Marchioness of Headfort.

A Peruvian Escutcheon Mubbed.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 19.—The escutcheon of the Peruvian Legation was pelted with stones, torn down and carried off by a mob of people to-day.

Cardinal Gibbons in Cologne.

COLOGNE, July 19.—Cardinal Gibbons and Mgr. Foley have arrived here.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.

The Clerk of the Board of Aldermen now issues temporary permits to the keepers of street stands to-day. This will enable them to conduct their business until the Board provides permanent regulations.

Street Stands All Right Now.